

Combination Roller Putter

Abstract

The combination roller putter is training device to help golfers in the act of putting. The combination roller putter incorporates wheels supported by axles supported by springs to assist in providing a putting stroke in a straight line predetermined by the golfer. Also incorporated into the invention is the ability to change the bottom plate allowing the putter to become a traditional putter.